1. Introduction

This document lays out a project plan for the development of "PlantNest  (Web Application)".

The plan will include, but is not restricted to, a summary of the system functionality, the scope of the project from the perspective of the "PlantNest (Web Application)" team (us and our mentors), project risks and how those risks will be mitigated, the process approach to develop the project, and metrics and measurements that will be recorded throughout the project. This document will cover each of the system's intended features, as well as offer a preliminary glimpse of the software application's User Interface (UI). The document will also cover hardware, software, and various other technical dependencies.

2. Proposed Solution

The proposed solution is a Web Application titled PlantNest. The Web application will allow individuals to view, search, and purchase plants and other gardening supplies/tools online. This application will make it easier for people who want to create their own gardens and enjoy benefits of growing their own plants at home. This online plant nursery will be particularly convenient for the people who have busy schedule and may not have time to visit a physical store.

The Web application will provide categories for different types of plants, allow users to search for specific plants, and offer sorting and filtering options. PlantNest will also provide users with valuable information about the plants they are interested in purchasing and help them learn about the growth habits, light, and water requirements.

3. Purpose Of Document

The purpose of this document is to present a detailed description of the Web Application titled PlantNest.

This document explains the purpose and features of the Web Application, its interfaces, what the Web Application will do, and the constraints under which it must operate. This document is intended for both stakeholders and developers of the Web Application.

4. Document Conventions

This document features some terminologies which readers may be unfamiliar with:

SRS: Software Requirement Specification

DESC: Description

5. Intended Audience and Reading Suggestions

The intended audience is any person who wants to:

Check the examination and result details (both student and administrator mode).

Add/Delete details in examination and result. (Only administrator mode).

6. Project Scope

This Web application will be dynamic, responsive, and visually appealing and will aid users in online shopping of plants and related gardening supplies/tools (henceforth, called as Accessories in this document).

Users can browse through various plant categories, see plant description, price, and so on. They can search for specific plants/accessories, add them to the cart, modify cart items if required, and check the total amount they are expected to pay. However, payment and delivery functionality are beyond the scope of this project.

The application should be free to download from either a mobile phone application store or similar services.

7. Project Perspective

All system information is maintained in a database, which is located on a server.   This includes user and admin information as well as information related to      PlantNest i.e. Products, Product Information, Categories etc.

An Internet connection is not necessary to access the system, to fetch and display results and to log in. Since this is a data-centric product it will need somewhere to store the data. For that, a database will be used. The web application will communicate with the database. All of the database communication will go over the Internet.

8. Project Functions

10. Design and Implementation Constraints

The primary design constraint is the mobile platform. Since the application is designated for mobile handsets, limited screen size and resolution will be a major design consideration.

 Creating a user interface which is both effective and easily navigable will pose a difficult challenge.

Other constraints such as limited memory and processing power are also worth considering..

12. Assumptions and Dependencies

The Website will run on Android Device with Internet Connectivity. The product shall take initial load time depending on internet connection strength which also depends on the media from which the product is run.

The performance shall depend upon hardware components of the client/customer's mobile handset.

13. External Interface Requirements

This section provides a detailed description of all inputs into and outputs from the system. It also gives a description of the hardware, software and communication interfaces and provides basic prototypes of the user interface.

The protocol used shall be HTTP.

The Port number used will be 80.

There shall be logical address of the system in IPv4 format.

14. User Interfaces

A first-time user of the mobile application should see the log-in page when he/she opens the application.

If the user is not a first-time user, he/she should be able to see profile directly when the application is opened.

An administrator should be able to log in to the Application where he/she can administer the system by for instance editing user and other information.
